Decision Making & Reporting

Several high-level managers were constantly being tasked with having to learn multiple tools so they can see the related content to help make decisions. Since they don't login to the applications very often, they all found the learning curve to navigate for the relative content in each platform tedious and time consuming.

What ecBoss brought to the table was the ability to see and use the content the managers needed from all the different ServiceNow tools in one consolidated view using SharePoint's easy to use familiar platform. Management can now easily create additional views/reports and share them across the enterprise without the need of any programming.
